Parent Concerns

Parents and educators both have a responsibility to do their part to create a positive relationship. To develop a productive relationship, parents with questions should follow the proper communication chain. Meet first with the person with whom you have the concern. This will save time, eliminate misunderstanding and get the answers you need. If you have a concern about any district employee, meet with that person.

If you cannot resolve the concern or get an answer to your satisfaction, then it is appropriate to proceed to the next level. It is always our goal to address concerns at the lowest possible level.
